DISTRICT NUMBER ONE.

Miss Frankie A. Robbins, teacher, Summer term. This, the second term by the same teacher, was highly successful. Order, studiousness and progress good. Ten of the seventeen scholars attended every day.

Winter term, taught by Reuben B. Porter. Progress rapid and thorough; especially by the more advanced scholars, of whom there were several fine classes.

DISTRICT NUMBER TWO.

The Summer terms, taught by Miss Mary E. Baily who had previously had charge of the same school for several successive terms, were highly prosperous.

The Winter term, taught by Miss Nellie M. Eaton, when first visited gave promise of excellence, which was not fully realized. Many of the scholars having become satisfied that the teacher was not strictly impartial, withheld from her their confidence, after which, the school was evidently not very pleasant or profitable.

DISTRICT NUMBER THREE.

The one term of this small school, taught by Miss Carrie P. Watson was characterized by rapid and accurate advancement.

DISTRICT NUMBER FOUR.

This, much the largest, and usually most difficult school in town, was successfully and satisfactorily conducted by Miss Achsa L. Cheney. Excellent order, thorough and systematic training and good progress characterized both terms.

DISTRICT NUMBER FIVE.

Summer term, by Miss Phebe M. Fellows, and winter term, by Miss Jennie F. French, were both very good. Both teachers had before been employed in this district; and the past year, each fully sustained her former reputation.

DISTRICT NUMBER SIX.

Summer and winter terms were taught by Mrs. Sarah J. Baker, whose former reputation as an efficient and successful teacher was still further strengthened. While good improvement was made in all branches attended to, the reading and map exercises deserve especial mention.

DISTRICT NUMBER SEVEN.

Miss Mary A. Robinson teacher. This school was quiet and orderly; no whispering was indulged in by any of the scholars during the term. Fair progress in all branches.

DISTRICT NUMBER EIGHT.

The one term in this district was taught by Miss Emma M. George. Though young, and without previous experience in teaching, Miss George was successful. The pupils were orderly and respectful, and made good improvement in their studies.

DISTRICT NUMBER NINE.

Summer and fall terms taught by Miss Addie A. Rand. Though this was Miss Rand's first effort as teacher, she succeeded very well. By her kind and affable manner she won the affection of her pupils, who made fair progress in their studies.

Winter term by Reuben B. Porter. There was a hearty co-operation between teacher and scholars to make this a successful school. As the term was short, and but little time had been devoted to reviews, the scholars were not generally so ready at the closing examination as we should have been glad to see. They seemed to rely too much upon the teacher for aid in answering questions.

DISTRICT NUMBER TEN.

Miss Louise N. Burbank teacher. This teacher was evidently kind-hearted and conscientious ; but through want of experience in teaching and, perhaps energetic decision in governing, the school especially the second term, was not very good. We learn that there was at least one malicious scholar who should have been brought to terms, or promptly expelled, when his spirit of insubordination was first manifested.

DISTRICT NUMBER ELEVEN.

The one short term was taught by Miss Lizzie Brown, who reports much interest manifest in the school, by parents and scholars : and good progress made.

DISTRICT NUMBER TWELVE.

Summer and fall terms taught by Miss Cordelia M. Withec. This school was highly prosperous. All of the scholars advanced in their studies correctly and rapidly. Exercises in reading, spelling and on map of New Hampshire were very satisfactory.

DISTRICT NUMBER THIRTEEN.

Summer, Miss Inez D. Nelson teacher. Miss. Nelson, who had before taught in this district several times, succeeded well. The closing examination in all branches was creditable to teacher and scholars.

The winter term, taught by Miss Carrie A. Martin, was excellent. The scholars in this district are generally intelligent, and Miss Martin is a superior teacher.

DISTRICT NUMBER FOURTEEN.

The one term was taught by Mrs. Ida F. Roby. Excellent order, and rapid and thorough progress in all branches.

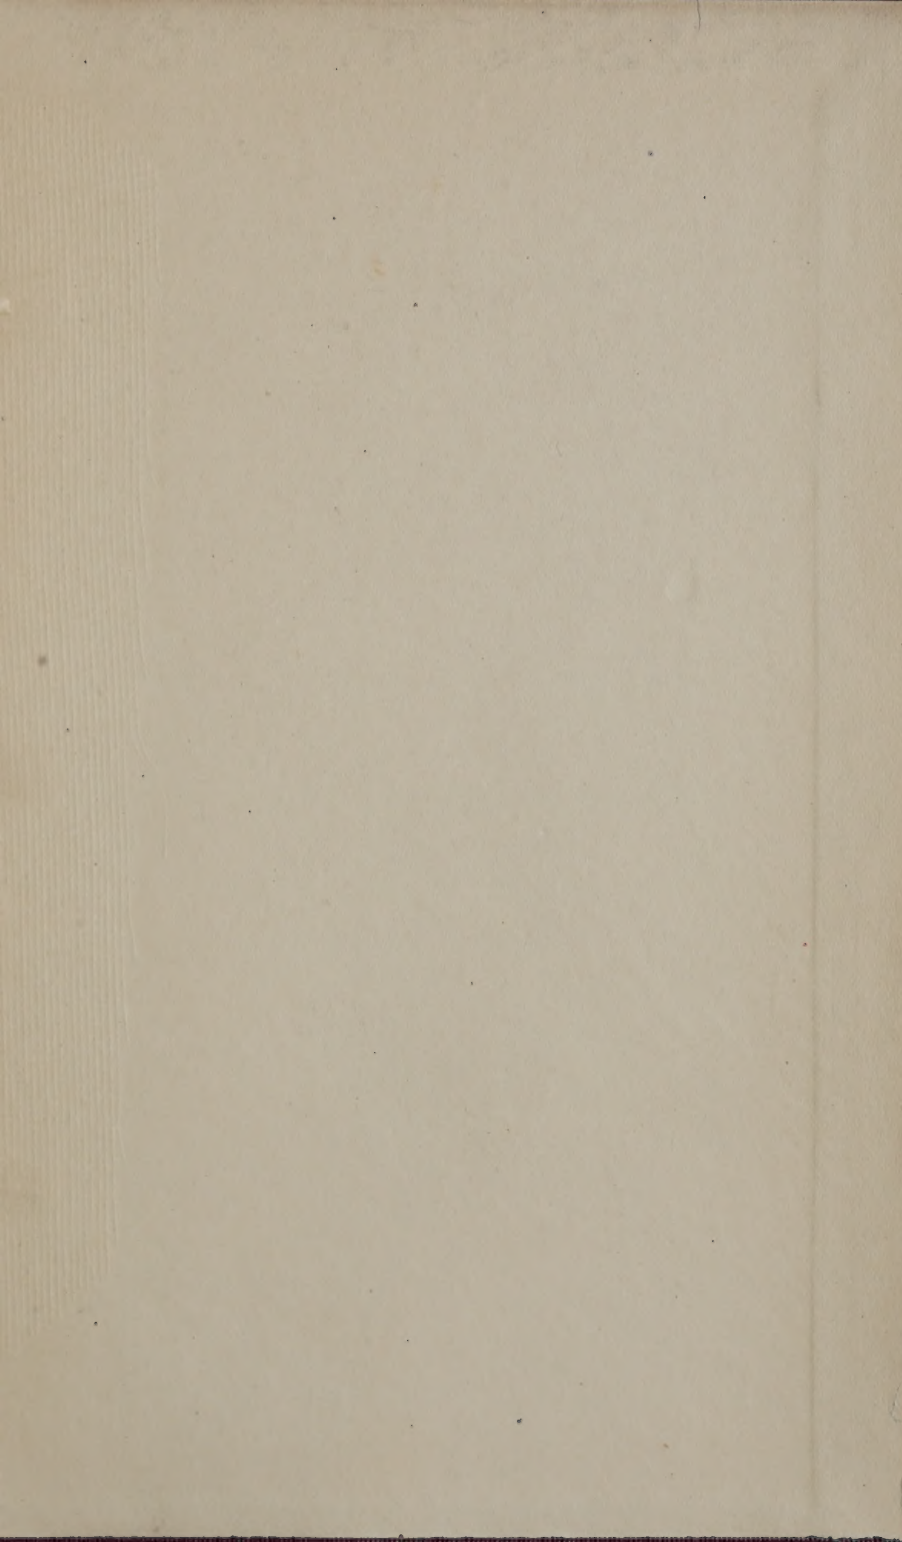

We have several districts with few scholars, little school-money and bad houses. A redistricting of the town, although it may incommode some citizens, must sometime be resorted to, and we would respectfully suggest that the educational interests of the town would be best subserved, were it done soon.
